FOREWORD

On August 19, 1968, the Akron Board of Education became one of the first school districts in Ohio to ratify a professional negotiations agreement. After extended negotiations, a formal contract was signed on February 3, 1969.

The second agreement was signed March 1970; the third in February 1971; the fourth in April 1972; and this agreement--the fifth--in September 1974.

The document represents consensus upon many matters of educational practice.

The negotiators were pleased to resolve the issues, in a professional manner. A high level of professional services was maintained throughout negotiations; this level will be maintained throughout the months ahead.

This agreement is the fifth formal concurrence between the Akron Board of Education and the Akron Education Association.

Previous agreements have been empirically tested, Contractual sections deemed sound, equitable, and functional have been retained. Other sections have been modified to better serve the instructional program--specifically, the boys and girls of the Akron Public Schools.

The intent of the agreement is to present understandings relative to salaries, fringe benefits, and those conditions relating to employment. These same understandings will allow our common pursuit of a viable school system.

The agreement is a dynamic one and it provides its own processes for modification and improvement. Through the channels of communication--specified within this document--teacher opinion is truly significant in every phase of the educational program. This asset is compatible with our administrative philosophy which accords teachers the opportunity to provide counsel on educational procedures. The practice has been a fruitful one.

With this agreement, the total professional staff of the Akron Public Schools is capable of reaching higher levels of understanding and achievement. And only by reaching these higher levels will the public continue to underwrite our efforts.

Conrad C. Ott, Superintendent
Akron Public Schools

Since the founding of the AEA in 1947, the Akron Board of Education, the Administration and the AEA membership have had the best education for the children of Akron as their primary objective. While differences of opinion as to the methods to be used and procedures to be followed in the achievement of this objective have occurred from time to time, the involved parties have never allowed personal or institutional considerations to replace this goal. The best education for the children we serve has always mandated compromise. This compromise has always led to understandings that have brought us nearer our goal.

The excellent record established by the Akron Public Schools will continue to improve due to this Agreement. The parties to the Agreement have an established precedent of using their agreements constructively. Therefore, polarization of the teaching staff, administration and Board of Education that has established adversary relationships in other school systems is not to be found in Akron. In this respect, the Akron Public School System is unique. This Agreement insures that it will continue to be unique.

The AEA, the Board of Education and the Administration intend to use this Agreement to improve the system of education in Akron. This constructive attitude regarding this Agreement makes it the nation's best. I hope you will take the time required to learn its provisions and then use them. Our Agreement and our school system will continue to be the best only if the provisions of the Agreement are used and enforced. You, the individual member, have that responsibility.

John Gondorchin, President
Akron Education Association

Notification shall be given by the member to his principal or immediate superior before absence from duty, except in extreme emergency. In such cases the claim shall be submitted no later than the second day after the member returns to work.

3.15 ABSENCE OTHER THAN SICK DAYS

All members shall be paid regular compensation for absences covered under this section.

A. TO ATTEND MEETINGS AND CONFERENCES

Absence of at least one day per school year may be authorized by the Superintendent to permit each member to visit another school or to attend local, district, state, national and international meetings or conferences of a professional nature.
